

2

Handwritten text in a cursive script, appearing as bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The text is arranged in approximately seven lines, though the characters are difficult to decipher due to the ink's transparency and the paper's texture.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, appearing as bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The text is arranged in approximately seven lines, continuing the list or notes from the reverse side.